dear friends

As you might have heard in the news, the University of South Florida has sold its broadcast license for WUSF TV in the FCC’s national spectrum auction. This was a difficult decision for the University.

USF is emerging as a top tier public research university in the southeastern region of the United States, and is aligning resources closely to fit its mission and focus. Proceeds from this sale will further enhance USF’s initiatives.

This sale will not affect WUSF Public Media radio stations Classical WSMR 89.1 & 103.9, or WUSF 89.7.

WUSF 89.7 is the home of National Public Radio in this market, and will continue as an outstanding resource for local and international news, information, and all night jazz in West Central Florida. Classical WSMR 89.1 & 103.9 will continue to share classical music in Tampa and Sarasota as well. We hope you will continue to support this important service to our community.

We’re still receiving information about the timeline, but WUSF TV will broadcast for several more months. You can rest assured that your favorite programs will continue to air during that time.

We will share information as we learn more about the timeline of our transition. In the meantime, this monthly program guide will be your resource as you keep up with the twists, turns and news of your favorite series. We hope you will continue to sit back and enjoy.

With gratitude,
J Ann Urofsky
