(Left) Ice crystals grow on the roof in a huge passage in Dark Star Cave, Baysun Tau, Uzbekistan (Photo Alessio Romeo).

(Below) Ceiling protochannel in Covadura Cave (Gypsum Karst of Sorbas, Spain). These protochannels were developed following the interstrata surface between marls and gypsum beds (Photo Victor Ferrer Rico).

(Left) Corrosion cupola and large scallops showing the flow direction in a gallery of Aven de la Leisacse, France (Photo Victor Ferrer Rico).
Aims and Scope

The International Journal of Speleology publishes research papers, review articles and technical communications on all aspects of the cave and karst sciences.

Copyright
© Union International de Spéléologie. All rights reserved. Statements and opinions expressed in the articles and communications are those of the authors and not the statements and opinions of the Union Internationale de Spéléologie.

Note to Contributors

1. Papers should be submitted online at http://scholarcommons.usf.edu/ijs through the “Submit Article” link. Texts should be typed 1.5 line spaced and have continuous numbered lines, preferably using Times New Roman 12 pt font, and should contain all figures, tables, plates, and figures, with captions, should be placed after the reference list using the format of IJS (see most recent issues). For the review process, all figures and/or plates should be of low resolution to keep the final final at a reasonable size.

2. Figures, plates, and tables should be sent at full resolution only after the review process is completed, and then in separate files (e.g. Fig1.jpg or Fig1.tif, Tab1.doc or Tab1.xls). To do so, highlight “Supplemental Files” while submitting your revised manuscript, then upload your supplemental files and their short description. For long tables, MS Excel should preferably be used (e.g. Tab1.xls). Papapers will be taken to imply that it is unpublished and is not being considered for publication elsewhere.

3. Papers should preferably be written in English. Authors using a language other than their own are requested to have their manuscripts checked for linguistic correctness before submission. SI system units should be used. Dates should be in the form “5 February 1975”, numbers as 21st 6. Other authors, the name of the person to whom correspondence and proofs should be sent must be followed by *.

4. Abstracts should be self-contained and summarise the contents of the paper. Authors should provide five keywords after the abstract. Keywords are separated by a ;. Articles can be structured in 3 orders of headings: e.g. GEOLOGY, Lithology, mineralogical characteristics. See recent issues for examples.

5. Each paper will be subject to editorial review by three referees. The Editorial Staff reserves the rights to refuse any manuscript submitted, whether by invitation or otherwise, and to make suggestions and modifications before publication. Submitted papers should be in a final form ready for publication. Make sure figures are of good quality. Correction to proofs should be restricted to printing and editorial errors only. Other than these, the cost of very substantial alterations may be charged to the author(s).

6. Bibliographical references should be listed in alphabetical and chronological order at the end of the paper. Journal names should not be abbreviated. See most recent issues for examples. References should be in the following forms:

   References should be cited in the text in parentheses, e.g. “(Jones, 1961)” except when the author’s name is part of the sentence, e.g. “(Jones & 1961) has shown that…”. When reference is made to the same author and year, a, b, c, etc. should be added to the date in the text and in the reference list. For two authors cite the form (Palmer & Palmer, 2000a); for more than two authors cite the form (Klimchouk et al., 1995).

   Multiple citations are listed in chronological order and separated by ; e.g. (White et al., 1988; Palmer, 2001).

   After the review process is completed, each table should be supplied in separate files. Tables should be numbered using Arabic numerals, e.g. “Table 1”, etc. Should a table not be original, a full reference to its previous publication should be quoted. Tables should be supplied with appropriate captions, and kept as simple as possible.

   After the review process is completed, color figures should be supplied in separate files. Figures should be numbered using Arabic numerals, e.g. “Fig1”, etc. and must be cited in the text close to where they are intended to be placed. Graphs and diagrams should be numbered for a reduction to the final format. Figures and photographs should be supplied with appropriate captions, and kept as simple as possible. Please use same font size when generating your figures or plates.

   Letters to the Editorial Staff should relate to single topics, provide comment on editorial policy or discuss the content of the International Journal of Speleology, or be responses to comments published in earlier issues of the journal.

   Articles accepted by the Editorial Staff will become the property of the Publisher and may not be reprinted or translated without the written permission of the Publisher.

   The Editor and the Publisher of the International Journal of Speleology are not responsible for the scientific content or other statements provided by the authors of accepted papers.