The hero of Mayor John V. Lindsay's sweeping victory in the predominantly black precincts of Hillsborough County was a hardworking bus driver, named Nathaniel Bunts.

Bunts is not a college graduate, and basically unknown "down town" by the professional politics. He is active, however, in the Belmont-Jackson Heights area.

When he makes a move, he is observed by black precincts of the city. He is active, however, in the predominantly black precincts of the city.

The mayor's knowledge of politics and organization at the presidential level is invaluable to the black community.

"If an attractive candidate to blacks loses, so be it. At least we have registered our protest as a minority against the likes of National Black Confab."

Local Black Attorneys Give Views Of National Black Confab

The first national black convention held last weekend in Gary, Indiana, was attended by over 6,000 people including two Tampa lawyers, Attty. Arthura Young and Alvy, Warren Dawson.

Both lawyers felt the confab was held not to get these things accomplished. The convention was held at a predominantly black school high school.

BELMONT HEIGHTS WOMAN MOLESTED

A city of Tampa police report revealed that a woman in her three-seventy-three-year-old Belmont Hills, woman, was criminally molested early Wednesday morning in the bedroom of her home after the suspect broke into the north side window of the bedroom where she and her husband were asleep.

The woman said that she was awakened by a man slowly pulling the cover from the left side of her bed, she screamed, and her husbaand got to get up but the man started "spouting" and got a gun.

He then said that he was a dope fiend and needed money. She told him that she didn't have any, but her husband gave him her wallet containing $11.

The suspect, who was referred, to the woman as soft-spoken and very polite, then forced his head into a closet and propped a chair against the door.

After criminally molesting her, he let her husband out of the closet, and typed through the front door leaving it open.

The woman further said that the suspect had something in his hand which appeared to be a rape.

WOMEN CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Mrs. Ethel Mae Westley, 26, was arrested early Tuesday morning after a brief struggle, after she shot Judge James Young, 25, 2025th St., at 1416 Orange Ave.

Mrs. Williams said that when Broner snatched her out of her brother-in-law's car at the Orange St. address, and started beating her.

She managed to get away and warned him to stay away or she would shoot him. Broner started toward her, she fired a warning shot with a 22 caliber revolver but he continued to advance on her.

She fired a second shot and said he would shoot him. She then placed him into the car to carry him to the hospital, but it failed to stop him. An ambulance arrived at the scene and transported both to Tampa General Hospital where the arrest was made.

SISTERS ARRESTED AFTER SHOOTING

Mrs. Joyce Annette Cotney, 26, 1223 Burton Ct., received a gill shot wound in the leg Wednesday night after an argument with her sister.

The incident occurred at the home of Mrs. Ethel Edith, D. Underwood, 20, and Mrs. Joyce H. Corbett, 27, who are sisters.

Working closely with Bunts at the precinct level was Rev. Mrs. Bunts, James (Rev.) Young and Clarence Bostick. Young is one of the most popular men along the 22nd Street (College Hill houses) area and is recognized widely-known in the West Tampa area.

book the clock on racial progress at this stage of the game, it is no time for a second Reconstruction, Etc.

Polls may continue to reflect the view that black citizens join white in being bearing, but no one argues that housing is something most people don't want to wish upon his child; but it is the best tool for eliminating racial segregation, North or South. It must be employed to change housing patterns are broken. We are proud to say that black newspapers accept the responsibility, representing the basic views of their readers, and are by and large both-busing as a tool of desegregation and fully aware of the policies of the landlords and the public they play here. It is patently that the Sentinel-Bulletin must admit that in our beloved state where this clock was turned back Tuesday and racism still prevails.

Busch does it like no other beer
It's no secret that many times busy homemakers would gladly trade a few filled这就 stamp books for a few hours of extra time. We are often told that we have much more time than we realize, but it is denied every due to lack of planning.

Now, during the summer season, here we need some extra time for cleaning, gardening and sewage. We are begging homemakers to share short-cuts and easy ways to do things.

Send your suggestions to Home-makers Forum, P. O. Box 3601, Tampa; or call 248-9817.

Did you know?

That if you fill a baked graham cracker crust with a mixture of canned peach slices, strawberries and whipped cream you have a delicious quick pie.

For each serving of meat, purchase 1/4 to 1/3 pound boneless meat, 1/3 to 1/2 pound bone-in meat; 2/4 to 1 pound boneless meat.

Toast dates back to early England. Chunks of bread, toasted over the fire, were dropped on tops of cups of wine. The piece was then eaten but then it became customary to "drink one's toast." Thus, "toast" became a word used for wine. The proliferation of vending machines encourages piecemeal eating or unplanned eating similar to a less organized, routinized society.

Mrs. Goodwin, elaborated on these points in a speech at a nutrition institute sponsored by the Washington (D. C.) Heart Association last week. She said she agreed with the breakfast cereal critic Robert Chatz, who denounced the great amount of snack and soft-drink advertising on children's television shows.

It is largely because of the amount of time children spend watching television, with its many commercials, that these foods have become a way of life rather than the exception. Mrs. Goodwin said that many teenagers, after often eating snacks at the expense of more nutritional meals, must then struggle to close the resultant weight gain. All too often, she said, this is done in the form of fast food diets.

The compulsive effect of snack foods and crash dieting, she said, can lead to large nutritional deficiencies.

Mrs. Goodwin also said, "There is no evidence that marijuana and amphetamines affect food intake, appetite and hunger." The appetite is then usually satisfied with snack foods, she said.

Mary Goodwin, who is associated with the Montgomery County Health Department in suburban Washington, cites such aspects of current family living as both parents working, the father coming home late, and the children having a constant agent of music, dates and sports, leaving no time for full, balanced family meals.

As a result, she said in a recent speech, teen-agers eat "from vending machines, at ball parks and movies and are offered nothing but junk food with no nutrition."

"Foods which were considered special treats or celebration foods are displacing the multi-servings of our diets," she continued. "Snacking has become a way of life. The proliferation of vending machines encourages piecemeal eating or unplanned eating similar to a less-organized, routinized society."

Soul Sister and Soul Brother In Spotlight

Sweet, wise, and friendly are just a few of the words that describe our Soul Sister in Spotlight. She is none other than Valerie Goodman, best known to her friends as "The Ranger" she resides at 3239 Pinellas St. with mother, Mrs. Raynell Goodman. She is also the daughter of Earl Joe Goodman. She's also a member of the 8th homeroom in which, Mrs. O. Daniels is sponsor. While chatting with her, she's sure to mention some of her favorites as food; anything made by Jean, isn't understanding Malling. She also mentions: Gladys Knight and The Pips, Bobbie. Living and listening to all the soulful sounds. Main towns: Miami, Linda, Carolina, Brenda, Beverly, Leroy, Simon, Douglas, Gerald, Joyce, Maggie, Carlton, Wanda, Stephanie, Karen, Gena, and many more.

Our second person has been listed as being handsome, wise, and a together dude, these are three of the many words that can be put together to describe our Soul Brother in Spotlight. He is none other than Rooald Tabor who resides in Carver City with parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tabor.

He is also one of Pierce star basketball players. If not playing his own game with his main light Steve Steph- en, you can find him with his main girl, Brenda Whitehead. Among his favorites are music; anything jazzable, Gam. Oh! all the hits around. Jammer; all the black singers. Nights: everybody around P.H.J. To keep you away from supper this young man is none other than John G. Crigg. Congratulations are extended to Valer­ iae and John.

CAMPUSS CHIR-CHA.

Your's truly have noticed many couples around school lately to name a few, J.J. and R.J., M.J. and C.W., C.W., and G.Y., and R.L. and J.T.

My main man Simon Tabor has really put his thing together with this chick Des-Dae.

Boy, David Jackson, a certain chick has been admiring you too guessing please). Manuel Barton can you keep cool and be a few of the fellows call you "Dopey". Remember, we have seen you a changed lot.

D.K. R.T. said for me to inform you that you are constantly on my mind.

PANTHERS RAP

Chose Christine, Info has gotten around to me that your boy Bush got down to you in the lunch­ room (did he really).

Brenda, why so hard on your boy Walter?

Renaye Wiggins, a brother would like to know when you can check out your crib for a little intimate rap session.

Stephanie, how's your man Allen getting along.

Debra Grady what's with you these days.

You walk around the school as though you're in a state of stupidity. THOUGHT FOR TODAY

GIBSON TURNS CARDINALS ON AS FIRST-DAY CORNER-CUTTER

ST. PETERSBURG — A strapping kid named Marc Hill, a non-roster catcher from El-berry, Mo., learned early why Bob Gibson is one of baseball’s premier pitchers.

At 36, perhaps the oldest regular starting pitchers in the major leagues now, Gibson repeated a day later, with permission, but day earlier than expected in the Bush Field pre-exhibition camp of the Cardinals.

Within minutes, after loosening up and fielding a few ground balls, the righthander, who has won 396 games in the National League and seven in World Series competition, was on the mound to pitch in batting practice for five minutes.

The first batter he faced was the 20-year-old Hill, in camp to help provide insurance for pitchers for batting practice. The young catcher did not offer at Gibson’s first half-dozen deliveries.

“If you’re waiting for me to throw down the middle, I don’t — not even in batting practice,” said Gibson, who had begun by cutting the corners.

“Watching,” the veteran righthander said. “I’ll hit the outside corner and move away.”

It did, too. So maybe Gibson really had something a few minutes earlier when, pulling on uniform No. 45 for his 13th season with the Cardinals, he had explained that he considered himself a better, or at least smarter pitcher than when he established his remarkable 1.12 earned-run record in 1968. That year he posted a 29-9 record, won the National League Most Valuable Player award and finished as one of two Cy Young award winners.

“I throw harder then, but I honestly think I’m a better pitcher now,” said Gibson, noting that the height of the pitching mound had been reduced and the strike zone decreased after the ‘68 season.

“Yeah. I’m older than the average player, but through ability to perform, I’m pretty much in the middle, athletically, counting stamina.

“The way I feel, I might have lost 10 percent of my speed, but I’ve got, say, seven or eight percent more know-how than I used to have. I go to the breaking ball more often, to my curve or slider. And I work the corners more.”

“I’ve fooled around on the arm this year,” he said of fanfare.

REYNALDO BROWN

officials know he’ll never cause much trouble, will make lots of friends and always will give a good performance. While other world class athletes often prefer to stay home and make money in the summer, Reynolds simply loves to see the world.

He flew home from Rome last July on the morning of the high jump event at the Honolulu vs. U.S. vs. the World Meet at Berkeley. Then he winged back to Italy immediately after the trials.

It was September before Ray finally got to travel. He opened his Indoor season at 7-0 of 4 in the Olympics. A good-looking 6-4 athlete with brown soft, dark eyes, Brown has the perfect temperament for sports. If he’s ever lost his temper, he can’t remember it. His teammates and friends have never heard a complaint out of him.

He likes everybody, as well as any food put before him, yet he remains slim at 160 pounds.

Roly-poly Ray remains as relaxed as an old shoe. After a couple of misses in the high jump, he may even yawn as he foot-against-foot measures the distance for his seven-step leap.

Before the jump, he also has the habit of springing up and putting his hands to his face against the charger. It’s an exercise in keeping his lead leg straight.

Since he’s competed in all sorts of pita before all kinds of crowds, Brown is immune to pressure. A real cosmopolitan, he looks like the best bet in the high jump at the Munich Olympics next summer, for he’s now gaining the strength he needed.

Ray opened his indoor season at College Park, Md., by setting an American indoor record of 7-4 off a dirt track.

Mattatuck, the world record holder, finished second at 7-2.

The next week in the Examiner Games in San Francisco, Brown again beat. Mattatuck, on fewer misses, and could do over seven feet. None of the other stars sparked, either. Epi Kenzo won the javelin with a beautiful throw.

While the rest were still warming up, Brown already had finally given the city its first sub-four-minute effort when

Lindsay Edges Humphrey As Favorite Of Hillsboro County Blacks

By SANDY MONDINO
the Sentinel Political Editor

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City edged Senator Robert Humphrey of Minnesota as the favorite black people in Hillsborough County in Tuesday's presidential preference primary. According to precinct results released by the Clerk of Circuit Court on this (Friday) morning, Mayor Lindsay topped Senator Humphrey in the sixteen, precincts where there is a heavy concentration of black voters by 1,435 to 1,000. The other precincts the Minnesota Senator carried have a smaller black population.

Lindsay's vote in the sixteen precincts represents nearly half of his total in the county of 8,912.

another strong testimony to his black support. In the sixteen precincts, Mayor Lindsay carried eight, Humphrey seven and in Precinct 18, both men gathered 378 votes each.

In the predominantly black precincts, Lindsay captured Precinct 1, 258 to 201; Precinct 11, 499 to 405; Precinct 11, 390 to 404; Precinct 54, 620 to 494, and Precinct 71 in Progress Village 272 to 167. Humphrey carried the predominantly black precincts of 23, 292 to 258 and 70 in Plant City, 212 to 167. The other precincts the Minnesota Senator carried have a larger black population with many black voters and includes Precinct 7, 247 to 146, 17, 168 to 140, 25, 250 to 226, 445, 251 to 179.

Black supporters of Lindsay told this writer that they estimated 9,000 blacks would pour into the polls because of George Wallace and the bombing referendum being on the ballot, and had hoped to poll at least 4,000 of the 5,000 black votes that average Florida Bums, precinct coordinator for the Lindsay campaign, said he was "well pleased" with the results because the early estimates were almost on the nose.
