CONGRESSMAN CONGRATULATES SINGER MARVIN GAYE

WASHINGTON — U. S. Rep. Ronald Dellums of California needs Marvin Gaye backstage at the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts following the Motown singer’s first public performance in nearly four years. Dellums assured Marvin that he enjoyed the critically-acclaimed show and that he will continue fighting in Congress for a solution to the issues Marvin raised in his album of social relevance, “What’s Going On.” Gaye accepted Key to the City of Washington, D. C. from District of Columbia Mayor - Commissioner Walter E. Washington at the highlight of activities during the morning of “Marvin Gaye Day.”

Teacher Accused Of Lewd Act, Refuses To Comment on Charge

A Tampa mother, whose husband is charged with committing a lewd and lascivious act involving a 14-year-old junior high student, refused to allow her husband to offer comment about the case.

Edith C. Dillio, 30th of Aviemore, was released from jail after posting $1,500 bond. He was initially charged with the rape of a black girl student, but the charge was dropped.

The girl said that Dillio was arrested at Middletown Junior High School Friday, shortly after the incident happened. He was later released on bond.

The only comment Dillio made was that the teacher’s arrest was to the effect that he didn’t do it, a statement he maintained to be fact when contacted by the Sentinel.

Some mothers said they were in the office typing from a history would be made by their attorney, double slaying carried over for charges against Kenneth Thompson.

Thompson, 34, a German-born airline ticket clerk, charred his wife with cruelty in suing for divorce.

The argument leading to the double slaying came from a neighbor’s report of Mrs. Thompson, 34, a German-born airline ticket clerk, charred his wife with cruelty in suing for divorce.

Thompson, a well-placed resident from Jamaica, sought to save the marriage. A State Supreme Court justice ordered the couple, separated six months ago, to consult a marriage counselor.

CIVIL RIGHTS COMMITTEE DISCUSSES COMMUNITY-POLICE RELATIONS

Members of the Florida State Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights met Saturday morning to discuss the findings and recommendations of its opening session on police-community (minority) relations in Tampa.

Discussing the findings were Bob Gilder, left, chairman of the Tampa Task Force, and Bobby Doctor, right, U.S. Regional Director, Atlanta, along with L. H. Baxley, Inc., Mrs. America Life Insurance, Jacksonville; Robert Clanton Doggett, pastor, Mtskyers Park United Methodist Church, Ft. Lauderdale, and Mrs. Mayme L. White, Miami.

Against the background of the urban violence all over the country, the committee held a two-day opening in May, 1971, to investigate the relationships between the City of Tampa Police Department, the Hillsborough County Sheriff’s Department and the black community.

The Florida State Advisory Committee, one of 51 throughout the country, adapted 16 recommendations in regards to police-community relations.

Husband Slays White Wife Then Self After Quarrel

NEW YORK — "You’ll get a divorce over my dead body,” was 35-year-old Kenneth Thompson’s vow when he and his estranged wife were walking to see a marriage counselor.

"Then I saw him pointing the gun at her. He began firing shots into her. No words were spoken."

Before any of the startled persons in the office could stop him, Thompson then pointed the gun barrel into his mouth and shot himself.

The couple, who met in Jamaica and were married nine years ago, had no children.

Hit-And-Run Suspect Killed By Police

Joseph Byron Mannan, 19, 2711 4th Avenue, was shot and killed Saturday by a policeman following a hit-and-run accident.

Petralman Ed Keenan said he spotted an auto known to be involved in a hit-and-run earlier and started the chase. The car stopped and two men later identified as Manno and Ronnie Leroy Allen, 40, 4999 48th Street, jumped out and ran.

The officer said he attacked Allen and ordered him to "put your hands up." At this time, Mannan came from behind a house with a gun and threatened to kill him. Allen then jumped Keenan and a fight ensued, the officer said.

Officer Keenan said he managed to grab the barrel of his revolver and fired, killing Mannan.

Allen was charged with resisting arrest with violence and assault to murder.

Military Law Bias Target Of New Task Force

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon announced yesterday creation of a task force with the mission of finding ways to eliminate racial discrimination in the military judicial system.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird signed a charter establishing the 15-member task force, which will visit military and naval installations in this country and abroad and study what was termed "relevant statistical data relating to probable causes of racial discrimination for the armed forces."

When it is finished with its studies, the Pentagon said, the task force will forward its recommendations to Laird.

Stoke Kills Dentist Cops Held As Drunk

CHICAGO — A black South Side cop held by police for nearly six hours after suffering a stroke died early Wednesday in a Tampa hospital.

"The doctors told me my husband might have survived if he had gotten immediate medical attention," said the widow of Dr. Daniel L. Claborn.

Dr. Claborn was arrested on April 18 after sideswiping a car near 350 E. 119th St. Police charged him with drunken and negligent driving and detained him from 1:20 p.m. until 1 a.m.

United States Rep. Ralph H. Metcalfe, D-Ill., in a meeting this week with Police Dept. James B. Cullinick, Jr., charged Kensington District police knew the dentist was ill but denied him medical attention.

"The sooner you give a sick person medical help, the better his chances are of survival," the doctor's widow, Clara Betts, told a reporter yesterday. "All the doctors were put to work here.

Metcalfe and other black community leaders demanded Monday that "fratricidal police contempt" for black patients stop and cited the case involving Dr. Claborn as an example of such abuse.

Metcalfe and his group will meet with Cullinick at 1:30 p.m. Monday.

"Cullinick will be willing to tell us about his version of the case involving Dr. Claborn," Metcalfe said.

"I am incredibly saddened by his death," Claborn said. "As much as I was willing to allow her to her own decision, I was willing next to Mrs. Thompson, reading a magazine, when I heard someone behind me."

"Then I saw him pointing the gun at her. He began firing shots into her. No words were spoken."

Before any of the startled persons in the office could stop him, Thompson then pointed the gun barrel into his mouth and shot himself.

Accept Reality

Some people would have you believe that everything is just fine in race relations in our city. Anything to the contrary is silenced because it means a change in the status quo. To say that everything is fine and dandy is to encourage the black community, and fairminded whites who know better.

The Florida State Advisory Committee to the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights last week issued a report during a national conference on race. It's a reassuring sign that some changes for prolonged betterment of relations between blacks and whites have been achieved. Indeed, the Commission said for the first time in its history that the black community is truly in danger of slipping further into dangerous waters.

BLACK COMMUNITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO SLAIN CHARLES ABLINE

The shooting of Charles Abline last week was a tragic, ironic and seemingly senseless act of violence. It was yet another example of the dismay, despair and self-destructiveness typical of our relationships with each other.

Charles was not a saint, nor prodded to be. But he was a talented, courageous, and sensitive young Black man who was deeply disturbed by the widespread suffering, oppression, confusion, and division that plagues the African-American race-ethnic. He loved his people with a violent passion. He lived and died the same way.

Charles was the hard-working co-founder of the CENTER FOR A UNITED BLACK COMMUNITY, where he had held the posts of Treasurer, Minister of Finance, and Chief Security Officer. He was a past member of Black Youth for Social Justice, a former member of South African Students, and a past member of Black Youth for Social Justice.

LETTER FROM TIA. STATE PRESIDENT WRITTEN BY WESLEY COLBERT... Entitled "TO THE CONCERNED PARENTS OF TAMPA."

Parents know what's wrong with children today? Nothing! It's the parents and adults who don't know how to relate to kids. That's because parents don't sit and listen to their children and try to learn what the children want. Children need someone who has time to sit and talk to them. But instead parents lay down rules, tell the kids they are somebody, that they are valuable, that you as their parents care and love them. Then you'll get their interest and they will be glad to tell you what they want and how they want to do it but actually do it. Parents if you listen to your children now and help them solve their problems, it could also keep from the children going to dope and avoid a young life of crime.

TAMPA'S NIGHT BEAT

BY JOHNNY JACOBS

You've truly visited the all new downtown Tampa this past weekend and found the folks on the town to be quite heartedly receptive. Mr. Morton, the instructor in the Christian Community, took a few moments to show you truly around and to acquaint you with the features of his home in the home. Among these are the latest sound systems, several speakers, Stereo,初级杰克, and lovely wallpapers for the very plain walls. Then there is the latest sound with a more classical beat used in a can do high-sounding which gives a sense of privacy to each individual table. At the Holiday one can find an almost never ending cocktail menu, even drinks. Try it for infinite dish! This is how you are to order it.

Your truly stopped over for a sun shade in the SERVE LOUNGE in West Tampa Sunday night and I must admit, there was hardly a standing room. There were so many patrons in the Ybor area, yours truly had to turn sideways to enjoy the news. No, the patron can understand why my favorite landmark, "HEMPY," is satisfied wearing the day on his face at all surround at the Lucie SHERMAN, captain of the soulful inn, doesn't start breaking up for the evening until he leaves his house. This would bring about a tremendous change to the Too spots in the Ybor area. The local sports men and sportsfishing alleys are only making this the best leisure spot, seven days a week.

Mrs. Wilson wishes to visit her other sister, "AL," whom she is an injustice to her movie star face and curvaceous body. She does her thing during the night, and Sunday night she will be. With the car, you truly could see why the ZANZIBAR has a full house.

While in the West Tampa area, yours truly had a chat with the ZANZIBAR BAR-B-QUE owner, His center is quite sure you will like it.

It's your responsibility to see to it that the right person does not shirk his responsibility. The money that the brothers spend to repair tailpipes or to buy a new tire due to a leak or a rock they hit in that parking lot could have very well been spent in a beef to shoot billiards, to buy bar-b-que, to buy breakfast, to have a shoe repaired or to buy a chicken sandwich. This is money that you are losing.

Preachers Battle Over Church Successor To Adam Clayton Powell

Rev. David N. Liorich charged this week that anti-West Indian and anti-grass-roots forces are working quietly to prevent him from acting Pastor — from succeeding Rev. Adam Clayton Powell, Jr., as Pastor of Harlem's Abyssinian Baptist Church.

The prime example, according to Rev. Liorich, is that the Rev. Samuel Powell, former President of Union Theological Seminary, was chosen to deliver the eulogy at Rev. Powell's funeral.

Rev. Liorich, angered because he was not selected to deliver the eulogy, told the Rutledge Independent, "I don't like to get too involved with the church's operation."

Rev. Liorich, who was appointed by the church as acting Pastor, recently formed the black-oriented new network.

ATLANTA—"Nigger Brightness," a new concept being developed by a black psychologist here, emphasizes blacks fighting to be given a chance, because Michigan, and black norms and white normals for a black to feel he isn't black. And to feel more persecuted than white."

Weems said his present research "In applying for a job it's normal for a black to feel he isn't going to get to set the job because his black. If a white feels he isn't going to be given a chance because he's him, that would be considered paranoia."

Emphasis on Adaptation

Weems said his present research interests are to emphasize black people's adaptation to their environment rather than the traditional white emphasis on maladaptation. "Intelligence tests may say a black person is low in intelligence but in fact may be often better equipped to deal with environment than someone who has accumulated vast amounts of book knowledge," he said.

"Nigger Brightness" would be a black kid who understands oppression and racism, he said. "We've emphasized the idea is in fact more intelligent than another black kid who has the impression that he had an equal opportunity and that racism is nonexistent."

Weems said in a recent session, on group discussed a theory of black matrarchy advanced by Harvard sociologist Daniel P. Moynihan. Dispute Moynihan's Findings

"We found that many more strengths have come out of a close relationship with the mother than weaknesses. The sensitivity of black men, the sense of dependence of black women and the general warm human relations shared by most blacks are a result of very strong relationships with black women," Weems and other researchers have said about these things.

"Then it was said that while several students commented on the lack of a father in the home, it was generally agreed that those without fathers spent much time with uncles, grandfathers, older brothers and often just concerned men in the community.

"One student whose father died shortly after his birth, was interviewed in black psychology classes at Morehouse house by publications by blacks. The psychologist at the Southside Mental Health Center where blacks from the area receive free psychological testing and counseling.

One day at the center Weems said a woman who had been drinking heavily came in extremely depressed and in tongues saying she had been unable to cook for her family for a week. "An initial reaction would be that this was a psychiatric depressed woman," he said. "Realistically Sad!"

But Weems explained that the woman was "realistically sad" to have had a mother's cousin who happened to have been a dentist," Weems said. Needs Are Discussed

Leo J. Mason, a writer and poet, who attends one of Weems' classes, described the class as a group of people interested in altering future oppression. "We discuss needs," he said. "I find it very important to feel a part of a race of people and to understand that I'm writing about it in a concrete rather than abstract way."

In addition to teaching at Morehouse, Weems works as a clinical psychologist at the Southern Men-

FAMED BLACK SURGEON FACES QUIZ IN GUN FATALITY

NEW YORK—Dr. Thomas Matthew, the black neurosurgeon, who founded Queens Interfaith Hospital, will testify this week before a grand jury on the strange circumstances surrounding the fatal shooting of a hospital employee. The Queens district attorney's office reported.

The surgeon said he had attended the victim, Chauncey Davis, 45, of W. 132nd St., but denied having performed an operation to remove the bullet, according to Assistant District Attorney Vincent Nicolosi, in charge of the homicide bureau.

Surrendered in Manhattan. As a separate procedure, Nicolosi and his aide, Assistant District Attorney Lawrence Finnegan said, the hospital itself is in the subject of a grand jury inquiry to ascertain whether its operation should be supervised by a standing jury.

At a noon Friday, Nicolosi was alleged that Dennis Jones, 27, of 30 W. 132nd St., had surrendered to the Manhattan district attorney. Jones described as an interfaith guard, turned in a 22-caliber gun and said he had accidentally shot and killed a 63-year-old man, who had a gun, and that the administrator Gordon Lynch and another guard called on Jones for help. Witness will go before the grand jury.

According to his story, the victim, Chauncey Davis, was shot and killed in the laundry room. Jones showed up Thursday with two bottles of alcohol, Jones mentioned another guard called on Jones for help. Jones said he wrestled with the man, who had a gun, and shot him, and when he turned around, the bullet hit Davis in the head. The weapon is the gun reportedly turned in by Jones.

Search of the hospital turned up Davis' sidearm, covered by a shirt, in a cubicle in the dormitory room. The head was bandaged.

Galbe's Defense Established. Nicolosi and Finnegan said Dr. Matthew told them that placing a certain drug in the hospital's operating room was "marginal notes" and did help witnesses will go before the grand jury. Besides Matthew, seven other witnesses will go before the grand jury tomorrow, including hospital administrator Gordon Lynch and several other Interfaith employees.

The officials said efforts will be made to determine why the police and the medical examiner had not been notified of the shooting.

Nixon's Busing Bill Seen Illegal

WASHINGTON — Former Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg said Thursday federal court judges would face the impossible if they tried to carry out proposals of President Nixon's school busing recommendation bill.

Goldberg told a House Judiciary subcommittee hearing that Nixon's recommendation bill and the administration's companion education measure that would restrict a court's power to order busing to achieve desegregation were unconstitutional, as is a proposed constitutional amendment to ban forced busing.

The moratorium bill would prohibit any new court ordered busing until July 1, 1972, or until enactment of the education bill, if that came earlier.

Duke Ellington Celebrates 73d Natal

NEW YORK — In a dark blue, single-button tuxedo, his long hair hanging below his shirt collar, Duke Ellington began a public celebration of his 73rd birthday as he stepped onto the stage, gingerly picking his way over microphone wires and moving to the piano to start a benefit concert in Newark.

When the concert ended nearly three hours later, Mr. Ellington and his 15-man orchestra had played more than two dozen selections of old and new Ellington standards, received the keys to the city and soul ensembe "I love you madly" in 14 languages.

The Duke observed his birthday Saturday and early yester- day morning by moving with his characteristic ease and grace through two of his many worlds: the concert stage of the community cultural center of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's Newark chapter, for which the benefit was staged, and a private party at a French restaurant on Manhattan's East Side. They came from far away.

The party at the Mistral, at 32 W. 42d St., included members of Mr. Ellington's family and his friends, some of whom came as far away as England, Algeria, Japan and California. At the Duke was served, and did so into the morning's early hours.

In Newark, Harry Wheeler, former partner of Kenneth A. Gibson, William S. Hart, Mayor of East Orange, and the poet-playwright and music critic, Ingram Artis Barnes (Louis Jones) walked outstage to hail the Duke. The Ellington benefit concert was the first program in the year-long series of cultural center, which was once the Canoe theater at 322 Elizabeth St.

Edward Kennedy Ellington, born in Washington in 1899, brought his orchestra, the Washingtonians, to New York in 1922. In the following 50 years he has become one of America's most famous composers and greatest composers.

In addition to writing over a thousand compositions, Mr. Ellington gave Jax a big city splash and an urbanity, a smoothness. His "Take the A Train," for example, caught the excitement of the city and the vibrancy of the black life there.

SOUTHERN'S WISHBONE TO BE FIRST AT BLACK COLLEGE

By FRED HEARNS
Southern SID

BATON ROUGE, La. — They’re already starting to think of fancy names for it: like Charlie’s Wish, or Bates’ Bone. But whatever you call it, Southern University’s Jaguars will run from the Wishbone formation this football season.

The Jags, under new head coach Charlie Bates, thus will become the first predominantly black college in the nation to run from the formation. That major college powers Texas, Oklahoma and Alabama made famous.

Bates installed the Wishbone this spring at Southern and the Jaguars showed immediate signs of improving their offensive attack in 1972. A former assistant at Southern and once the head coach at Kentucky State College, Bates said he was going with the Wishbone because, “it forces the defense to defend the entire field and not just a small portion.”

With Henry Green, Ralph Morris, James Owens, Edward Jordan, Robert Gollins, Dale Scott and Jerome Groover, the Jags have the size and speed needed in the offensive backfield. Scott, a 6-1, 185-pound quarterback, will be a freshman this fall, while the others, will be sophomores. Groover, 6'1 and 190 pounds, is another signal caller and the rest are running backs.

Last year’s quarterback, Lawrence “Dillon” Haynes, has been playing baseball this spring and did not participate in the Jaguars’ final scrimmage Saturday, April 29. He is expected to return in the fall, however, and the 6-1, 190-pound Baton Rougean will bring with him more experience than any other offensive back.

Green, a 6-1, 210-pounder from Miami, Fla., had an outstanding spring and emerged as the team’s number one offensive weapon. He scored a touchdown on a 10-yard scamper around right end in the spring game. Scott scored a touchdown on a one-yard plunge and set up another with a 40-yard pass to 5-6, 170-pound Bettram Taylor.

Jordan and John Hall also scored touchdowns on short runs and Everett Route kicked three extra points. But the defense out-scored the offense 21-17, on a special punt return devised for the scrimmage. Cornerback Edie Bishop, 6-0, 185-pounder from Shreveport, La., was the standout on defense, recovering two fumbles and intercepting a pass.

He returned one of his fumble recoveries for a touchdown and got help from safety David Walker, who also intercepted a pass and returned it for good yardage.

Offensive linemen Roy Jones, Nathaniel Lee, James Wright and Elton Blunt played a large part in the success of the offensive backs, while the defensive line was paced by giants Willie Jones (6-6, 260), Jerry Broadway (6-3, 245), Larry Thomas (6-3, 285), John Ray (6-6, 300), Harold Sampson (6-7, 280), Edgar Fullwood (6-3, 300), and Randy Morton (6-6, 300).

Linebackers Alfred Sanchez, Marvin Brown and Joe Mitchell were very impressive and, when All-Southwestern Athletic Conference middle linebacker Godwin Taylor recovers from an arthritic injury, Southern’s defenders should be as fierce as the Jag offenders are potent.
Brother Recalls All’s First Fight

CHICAGO — Rahoman Ali had a brown paper bag with a wedge of pie and an apple and a carton of milk inside, and he said if nobody minded he'd eat while he talked.

"I've been training all afternoon," he said, "and I'm hungry and there wasn't time to stop coming down here."

An old friend asked about Rahoman’s two absolutely beautiful, affectionate children, Alececa and Sandra, and his lovely wife, Sandra. And Rahoman smiled because these are three important people in his life.

"I can tell you the exact date Sandra and I met," he said. "It was July 1, 1963, at the University of Illinois. It was Monday. More than anybody else, who gets me to come back to fighting." Rahoman has the quick smile of his brother, Muhammad Ali, but physically they are different. Rahoman is cut more along the rugged features of their father, while Muhammad has the softer lines of their mother.

"Just look at him, he's a son of a good man," Rahoman said, and laughed. "You're going to meet him and you'll know who his brother is."

He said that the brother Muhammad had only fought 12 times, which is not a lot for a guy who went into the ring in 1964. He had been beaten only once and that was the same night (March 6, 1971) that his brother Mohammad dropped the only fight of his career, the 15-round showdown with Joe Frazier.

"You probably know how me and my brother got to boxing," Rahoman said. "It was in Louisville, and Mohammad was only 12 years old and somebody stole his bike he got for Christmas.

"He was just a little guy and he was crying, and he was looking for a policeman. And they showed him a gym where a prince

Basketball Banter

I often wonder if very many a person really understands the history of the great game of basketball. Without knowing it, it's a very unique history and was born right here in The United States. Basketball got its start in no other country can lay any claim to its origin.

Basketball was invented by Dr. James Naismith at the YMCA Training School in Springfield, Massachusetts in the year 1891. Dr. Naismith was trying to get the kids to change their habit of fighting. He suggested that the boys play a game of "basketball". The first game, which was played at a school in Lawrence, Kansas, had only 9 players on each side.

The game went through hundreds of changes down through the years. Now look at what we have got. The4 most important world championship series between the Los Angeles Lakers and The New York Knicks are on.

Remember, I said that The Lakers should win it. Well, Will and Company are ahead 3 to 1 at this time. I can't say they will win the next but 1 will but they got to be good at the end for the L.A. to win.

So, May 8, Rahoman Ali goes to Madison Square Garden, the last time Rahoman fought on the same card as his brother.

It isn't that I minded, or was ashamed of it, but he taught me a lesson."

Rahoman said, "It was in Louisville, and Mohammad was only 12 years old and somebody stole his bike he got for Christmas."

"And she said for me to do what made me happy, and she knew it had to be fighting."

For the front of his career, Rahoman lived in the shadow of Mohammad. Sparring partner in training camp, Rahoman's two absolutely beautiful daughters, Alececa and Sandra, is the only difference underneath his brother's main draw.

"We don't fight the same style. It's a different ball game, but he taught me a lesson." Rahoman said.

Just look at him, he's a son of a good man," Rahoman said, and laughed. "You're going to meet him and you'll know who his brother is."

NEBRASKA ALL-AMERICAN CLEARED ON DOPE CHARGE

PITTSTON, Neb. - Johnny Rodgers, the speedrunning back who had fans on his feet with his antics in helping Nebraska to be the No. 1 football team in the nation last year, has been acquitted on a narcotics charge.

WILLIE MAYS SURPRISED ABOUT SECRET TRADE TALKS

PHILADELPHIA — Willie Mays wasn’t counting his birthday candles Saturday. Rather he was counting the days he might have left with the San Francisco Giants. The Giants are thinking about trading Mays, who was 41 years old Saturday, to the New York Mets.

Who says so?
M. Donald Grant, board chairman of the Mets, and Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants.

“Maybe we’ll talk when we get to New York,” Stoneham said Friday. “We’ll discuss the possibility. We need pitchers.”

The talks have been so serious that Stoneham admitted telling the Mets they had to promise to find a place for Mays in their organization, as the Giants have, when the outfielder asks if it’s a career move.

Grant said he had expected a call Thursday or Friday about the chances of acquiring Mays.

“We’ll discuss the possibility,” he replied. “Nothing’s been made.”

The outfielder, who still is the No. 2 home run hitter of all time, would have to wait and see. Mean­while he’s playing tonight.

“I was told that they were go­ing with young players,” Mays told a couple of dozen reporters at the Giants’ dugout before Friday night’s game.

Mays said he realized that he has reached the point in his base­ball career when he didn’t do everyday things that made him a superstar.

“Can do it well when I’m rested,” he added.

“Sometimes even now I find myself saying, “Geen, I used to hit those homers so easily 10 years ago or six years ago. I know I can’t hit the ball long. It’s not used to, but I make up for it in other ways.”

WILMINGTON, Del. - Yielding to the pressure to avoid a threatened violence, the Wilmington School Board had yesterday decided to withdraw its proposal to dismiss a substitute teacher for a woman. Instead, the board opted for a local high school principal who had the backing of many blocks.

"The board felt there was no other resources to administrators of the critical task of the educational process in Wilmington. They did not want to jeopardize potential bloodshed," the board had in a statement after a six-hour meeting during the night.

The meetings followed a demonstration yesterday in which 600 young demonstrators protesting the hiring of Mrs. G. Johnson, an assistant professor of urban education at Rutgers University and a corresponding member of the National Education Association, marched through the streets in their demonstration and approval of the board's original choice.

WILMINGTON - The government said Wednesday the cost of an in­ dependent family of four has risen to $9,301 in 1970 from $8,626 in 1969. This is a 2.9 per cent rise from the last time the figure was com­ piled 12 years ago. However, food prices rose 6.3 per cent during the period. The government also said other food­ ers helped ease inflation's sting. For a married couple with two children, the cost of living, the rose 3.6 per cent per year. The index of 122.7 in 1969, climbing to 125. In addition, providing some­ one, the cost went up 2.5 per cent in 1970. The figures, from the Labor De­ partment's Bureau of Labor Sta­t istics, are for last fiscal year. In March, the index increased 1.9 per cent, the first increase, since it now declined only once in the 17-year period.

But She Holds No 'Hard Feelings'

Entertainer Eartha Kitt had a message Monday for Bloom­ field, S. Africa, which wouldn't let her perform in the municipal stadium. "I don't know why she isn't white: no good feelings."

Earth Kitt of Bloomfield had been barred from performing in the city, the mayor, the city council's representatives, the public housing authority, and the school board, decided to amend the arena, which is known as the auditorium stage under the nation's strict racial separation.

Miss Kitt said: "There is an age of living in poverty. That age of negotiations is ever closed completely. So I can't do performances in Bloomfield. It seems so unfair that everybody should be punished because of the attitudes of only a few people."
